INTEREST GROWS

In the Revival Services at the Stealey Heights United Brethren Church.

The Rev. E. H. Waters, of Grafton, preached another fine sermon Tuesday night at the revival being conducted in the Duff street United Brethren church of Stealey Heights. His subject was "Personal Service."

Interest in the revival continues to grow and there are conversions at each service.

The Rev. Mr. Waters will preach at 7:45 o'clock each evening this week, except Saturday.

TOO MUCH KULTUR.

There are too many pro-Germans on East Main street for L. M. Johnson, the Telegram's pressman, and he has moved to Bridgeport, where, he says, the Allied cause is more in favor. But, what is life without an argument now and then anyway?

West Virginia Briefs

ELKINS: The fiftieth communication of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows in West Virginia will be held at Elkins, commencing Thursday, May 11, and will continue for three days. Meeting at the same time will be the department council of Patriarchs Militant, a branch of the order, which will be called by the grand president, Francis Thrall, of Fairmont. Preparations that are already made assure the communication being one of the largest and finest that the order has ever held in the state.

CHARLESTON: This city is conducting a campaign against rats. I. Dodd, 1234 Fourth avenue, leads the field in the competition for the five dollar prize which has been offered to the person who kills the largest number of rats during clean-up week. Dodd has slain fifty-four rats and nine mice. Broadie Chappel, driver of one of the city teams, is second with a record of thirty-six dead rats.

WHEELING: While it has not been generally known Wheeling has a guinea pig plant, which furnishes pigs for all the local hospitals and for large institutions throughout the country. The guinea pigs are used for experimental purposes by scientists and are of great value in experimenting with serums before they are administered to patients in hospitals. The plant is owned and operated by William Raymond, we'll known resident of that city.

BLUEFIELD: Twenty-four hours after her twin sister, Miss Emily Abshire, died, Miss Lizzie Abshire, previously in perfect health, also passed away. Physicians say she died of grief. The two had been inseparable companions from childhood. The two sisters were 64 years old. It is said the two had never been separated for twenty-four hours at a time. They were the last surviving members of the Abshire family, the mother preceding them to the grave only a year ago.

HUNTINGTON: One hundred and five thousand dollars was the consideration in a deed transferring 2,577 acres of oil and gas leases in Cabell, Boone and Kanawha counties, from the Standard Fuel Company, of West Virginia, to George O. Chilton, of Charleston, filed in the office of County Clerk R. S. Douthett here. Mr. Chilton also filed a deed transferring the same property from himself to the Empire Petroleum Company, with headquarters in Charleston.

WHEELING: District Attorney S. W. Walker has received a telegram from Richmond notifying him that the United States district court of appeals has sustained Judge A. G. Dayton in the contempt cases growing out of the strike of employees of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Coal Company in Brooke county in 1914. The effect of the decision will be to compel James Oates, Pennie Sellins and Frank Ledvinka, leaders and organizers of the United Mine Workers, to serve the jail sentences of six months imposed upon them by Judge Dayton.

BLUEFIELD: The entire family of Isaac Samson, consisting of six persons, are dead at their home near DeLorme as a result of eating poisoned weeds which had been prepared for a salad. The family consisted of father, mother and four children.

The mother gathered some greens which she prepared as a salad and in a few hours after they had partaken of the salad they were all dead. Neighbors called physicians to the home, but all efforts to save the family failed.

CHARLESTON: The Kanawha Valley Fair and Agricultural Exhibit will be held in Charleston or at Dunbar October 18, 19 and 20, the Kanawha County Farm Bureau has announced.

WHEELING: Dr. J. H. Stillyard, negro, held without bail on a charge of performing a criminal operation on a Wheeling girl, who died, collapsed in the court hall. He was taken to the hospital, where his condition was pronounced critical.

CHARLESTON: A "John Doe" letter to Ben Robertson, general merchant at Clendenin, was accompanied by $3 in payment for a watermelon worth fifteen cents, taken from Robertson's store many years ago. "I have applied the Bible standard," said the writer, "and restored fourfold—and I have added interest."

WEST VIRGINIA TAKES PART IN CAPITAL NEWS

Events of Washington, D. C., Are Reported by Telegram's Correspondent There.

WASHINGTON, May 3—A number of capitalists and financiers of Virginia and the eastern part of West Virginia, have, it is said, acquired an option on the famous old Capon Springs, situated in Hampshire county, W. Va., including the baths and a large acreage surrounding the site of the hotel that was ruined by fire several years ago, and a stock company is now being formed for the avowed purpose of rebuilding and improving the property. Capon Springs was for many years one of the favorite resorts of many West Virginians, and it is probable that when the plans now being made are carried into execution, the springs will know a prosperity and popularity as great as in its palmy days. It is understood that the work of improvement is to be started almost immediately, the work of construction to proceed as the business increases.

Mrs. Edward Cooper, wife of Congressman Edward Cooper was one of the congressional circle invited to assist at the McNeal-Burdick recital at the Congressional Club, which was one of the most elaborate affairs of the spring season. The musicale was given by Mrs. Rodenberg, wife of Congressman Rodenberg, and the congressional women chosen for assistants included some of the most prominent members of the organization.

Washington is to be the headquarters on May 29 of the first convention of the National Tobacco Merchants' Association. This will mark the first time in the history of the tobacco industry in the United States that an organization of tobacco merchants has held a national convention. Representatives from all branches of the industry, from all elements of the business from the tobacco grower to the leaf dealer, will be present and at least 300 delegates have signified their intention of attending, among these a number of West Virginians now interested in tobacco growing.

A number of West Virginians are among the 1,600 creditors of the Reliable Home Furnishing Company, of this city, whose affairs are now in the hands of a referee in bankruptcy. An unexpected crowd of almost 500 answered a call this week for a meeting of the creditors, filling the large room of criminal division No. 2 of the court. The number of persons holding claims against the defunct company was somewhat of a surprise. Most of the creditors are holders of contracts under which they were to make periodical payments and be entitled when these payments totaled $18, to select an article of furniture. It is alleged the firm did quite an extensive mail order business. Partial payment, it is said, had been made by more than 1,600 persons, when involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were instituted against the concern last March.

President Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, and in the presence of scores of army, navy and marine officers formally opened yesterday the first National Service School camp at Chevy Chase. Two hundred young women from half the states of the union are registered as regular campers, and 300 more are day students, having mess tent of their own, opposite the camp. Miss Eleanor Lee Potts and Miss Margaret A. Potts, of Shepherdstown, are West Virginia's representatives. Miss Frances

The AEOLIAN VOCALION

A Phonograph—and Infinitely More

THINK of the Vocalion as a wonderful new musical instrument rather than as a phonograph merely. Such tone it has!—you would not believe the phonograph could have been so amazingly perfected, did you not hear this new marvel of tone-reproduction re-sounding voices and instruments with exact fidelity.

Every subtlety of each record is sought out and made to pulse forth in fascinating wonders of music-beauty.

And this sweet purity of tone is yours to control as you wish. The revolutionary feature—the Graduala—grants you the privilege of singing and playing guided by the art of the world's foremost musicians.

You are welcome to come in and see and try the Vocalion, regardless of whether or not you are ready to purchase. Demonstrations throughout the day.

Non-Graduala styles, $35 to $75. Graduala styles, $100 to $350. Art styles to $2000
